Curvature of the Spine.

DR. HAMILTON,
No. 47, North Gay street, Baltimore,
HAVING turned much of his attention during a long practice to the diseases of the Spine, begs leave to tender his services for the cure or relief of that afflicting malady. The approach of this disease is easily detected by an attentive observer. It makes its appearance generally in children between the second and sixth year; a protuberance of one or more of the small bones composing the spine becomes evident, loss of appetite, irregularity of the bowels, and emaciation soon follow, together with much disinclination to walk—and unless immediate aid is obtained, death or incurable decripitude through life are the certain consequences.

Doctor Hamilton has the satisfaction of knowing that his treatment of this disease, and application of the necessary apparatus, which is simplified at the same time, that it is materially improved, have received the unqualified approbation of many of the most eminent of his medical brethren in Baltimore. Spring corsets, upon a new principle, can be applied for the use of young ladies evincing a tendency to this disease, which, while they afford the most effectual support for either side, may be worn without observation. Satisfactory references might be given to parents whose children have profited by this improved mode of treatment, did not delicacy forbid the publication: they may be easily obtained if desired, by a private interview.

Valuable Family Medicines.

JUST received direct from the proprietors, the following valuable Medicines, all of which have been in use for a number of years past, in almost every part of the United States; have been highly patronised by people of the first respectability; and approved by those who have had occasion to make use of them, for the cure of those disorders, for which they are severally calculated.

Dr. Lee's Genuine (Windham) Bilious Pills,

Universally known and used throughout the United States as a Family Medicine. The fame of these pills has become so great that many have attempted to counterfeit them—to guard against this, the proprietors have procured a Stereotype Label, and each box of Genuine Lee's Pills will hereafter be enclosed in one of these labels, with these words on the sides: "Lee's Genuine Windham Billious Pills," and on the end of the Label the words, "Samuel Lee, patentee, &c. I. Thompson, agent, joint proprietor," &c. and should any be offered for sale without said Label on them, the purchaser may be apprised that they are counterfeit.

Dr. Thompson's Celebrated Eye-Water:

For the cure of inflamed and sore eyes of almost every description. This valuable preparation comes highly recommended from the most respectable sources. Price 50 and 25 cents a bottle.

Dr. Rawson's Genuine Itch Ointment:

A certain and safe cure for that disagreeable complaint, as well as other irruptions of the skin. Price 37½ cents a box.

Dr. Rawson's Anti-Bilious and Stomachic Bitters,

For weakly and infirm constitutions. Price 37½ cents a box.

Hinckley's Infallible Remedy for the Piles,

A most valuable medicine. Price 50 cents a box.

Specific Drops for the Tooth Ache,

Which in almost every case, gives instant relief, in that distressing complaint. Price 37½ cents a bottle.

Cooley's Vegetable Elixir, for Coughs, Asthmas, Consumptions, &c.

A very valuable medicine in those complaints. Price 50 cents a bottle.

Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE.

CHILI.

Official communication of Gen Balcarce to captain-general San Martin.

Most excellecnt Sir.—The enemy suffered yesterday, a loss which, in my opinion, has placed them in an utter impossibility to sustain themselves any longer; notwithstanding that they have endeavored to consecrate the wrecks they saved out of the fortress of Narimiento. The battalion of chasseurs, which, as I informed your excellency on the 18th inst. was marching in order to overtake some of the enemy's infantry then passing the Vio-vio, arrived at a time when a considerable part of them had not embarked. An attack upon them was immediately made by the chasseurs, in company with the regiment of mounted grenadiers, and the former were completely routed; as it appears by the communication which I have the honor herewith to enclose.

Colonel Don Ruderindo Alvarade, who commanded the attack, has thereby become entitled to that distinguished praise and mention which his merit so justly deserves; which must also be extended to the chief, and other officers and troops who accompanied him, and are mentioned in his report.

God preserve your excellency many years. Head quarters of the army of the south, at Los Angeles, January 20th, 1819.

ANTONIO GONZALES BALCARCE.

To His Excellency Capt General Don Jose de San Martin.

Buenos Ayres, Feb. 25, 1819.

This day the sovereign congress opened their session, and the supreme director, brigadier general Don Juan Martin de Pueyrredon, delivered the following address.

Most sovereign Sir,—It is with real pleasure that I this day fulfil my duty, felicitating your sovereignty on the opening your sessions. The friends of the country expect from them that the vacillation on which the state fluctuates, may have a speedy termination; and its enemies dread to see the day in which the order and the empire of the laws are forever consolidated; they therefore make use of those arts and exertions which despair inspires them with, in order to prevent its ever appearing to us, or at least to protract it.

The different means to which they resort to destroy our peace and liberty, are public, and well known to your sovereignty. Seduction, deceit, falsehood, conspiracies against the lives of the first authorities, libels to tarnish their fame, and the most vile pasquinades, are the weapons they daily employ to destroy that harmony in which the United Provinces repose.

It is afflicting to the least sensible heart to have recourse to proscriptions and exiles, as often as the crimes of sedition require. Nay, it is against the reputation of the executive to see him constantly armed, and always punishing the turbulent. Such a violent state of things is irksome, perplexing and disheartening, both to the people and to the government.

It is therefore the first and most urgent necessity to look for a remedy that may [illegible]tually annihilate the germ of the evils [illegible]re observed. There is no other but [illegible]mpletion of the constitution, which at [illegible] engrosses all your attention, and [illegible]us expectations of the people.

[illegible]he authority becomes firmly con[illegible]and a law established both for those [illegible]mmand and those that obey, then [illegible] that spirit of emulation, ambition and [illegible]ry, which so often caused troubles and [illegible]sturbances in the state be utterly destroyed. The executive will then have, in an unerring rule, all the energy and strength necessary, and will be released from the many snares which disturb him, and engages that attention which other more important business demands.

Your sovereignty knows the disturbed condition in which I found the country of which I had the honor to be appointed supreme director. Oblivion of former conduct, acts of beneficence, and other conciliatory measures, produced for some time the most salutary effects. Order revived, and its advantages were every where experienced. But some malicious, ungovernable minds soon became discontented, and I was obliged to repress them. The same intentions were repeated, and I was under the necessity of having recourse to the like measures. The agents of disorder have not ceased to appear from that time, and I could not omit to persecute and take them away, considering it as the first duty of my charge.

Such a train of sad and painful events has rendered me the object of the enmity, hatred and vengeance of men who, otherwise, might be useful to the cause of our liberty. This likewise demands the most efficacious and speedy remedy. I could present it in this very act by requesting my dismissal; but I do not deem it expedient or convenient for the credit of the state abroad, or its direction at home. The constitution will afford this powerful, natural, and pacific measure.

Another man, without the personal compromises in which I find myself, will neutralize those exalted passions to the advantage of the common cause; and with the book of the laws in his hands, he will check and punish the evils (should they appear) without fear of his justice being mistaken for malignity, and his rectitude for personality.

On the other hand, the Spaniards, our implacable enemies, are with the utmost efforts preparing at Cadiz a strong expedition to subdue us. My soul tells me that we are invincible. However, it is necessary to make no common preparation, and such as shall augment the glorious opinion we have acquired. The measures must be commensurate to the danger.

These provinces must now assume a most warlike appearance; for which purpose they ought to have at their head a chief more inured to the field, and possessed of more military knowledge than that they have been able to acquire. I speak, Sir, with that sincerity which the interest of our salvation demands from me.

On giving us the constitution, your sovereignty must likewise give to us such a person as our situation requires. All these objects claim the utmost speed; and I entreat you to redouble your efforts and attention to these important matters.

Finishing them you will fulfil the desires of the people of these United Provinces, and receive their gratitude by so many titles due to you. For my part, I will then descend from this post of bitterness, and show the nation that it is an easy thing to obey, but very difficult to command.

It appears from another paper that the discussions on the project of a constitution, continued, and that congress were busily employed in the framing of it.

From the N. York Daily Advertiser May 7.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

By the arrival yesterday of the ship Thames, Capt. Peck, from London, and 28 days from the Downs, we have received London papers to the 23d of April, inclusive, from which we have made the following selections.

The Report of the committee of the Senate of the United States, on the subject of the Seminole war, is published in the London Courier of the 2d of April.

Price of Stocks at London, April 3.—3 per cent consols, 74 3-4 5-8 7-8 3-4 7-8; 5 per cent navy, 106 1-8; India bonds, 32 31 33 pr.

London April 3.

According to the Paris journals, a committee, of which the president was the keeper of the seals, assembled last Saturday, to arrange a projet de loi for the abolition of the droit d'aubaine, in consequence of the wish expressed by the resolutions of the two chambers.

The rumour contained in the former papers from France, relative to the assassination of M. de Kotzebue, is confirmed by the present arrivals. The particulars of this murder are detailed under the usual head. We certainly do not much admire M. Augustus Von Kotzebue, in his character of dramatist, moralist or philosopher: we think that his philosophy and morality are full of false principles, and his plays overrun with meretricious attractions. But it seems, that neither his taste nor his morals were the cause of his untimely and pitiable end: he was butchered, they say, for his political opinions regarding the state of Germany, which tended to repress the zeal for universal change, which predominates at this moment among the German people. The unfortunate writer fell a victim to that unsound and depraved enthusiasm, against which it was the purpose of his later works to warn the sovereigns who employed him. He had alarmed the jealousy of those who called themselves patriots throughout the German States. A student of Wurtzburgh travelled to Manheim, sought an interview with M. Kotzebue, whom he stabbed to the heart; and walking quietly into the street wounded himself desperately with the same dagger, having first thanked God upon his knees for the success of his treacherous and inhuman enterprise. Oh Germany, if these be thy patriots, Heaven protect thee from the blessings of a political reformation!

Paris, March 29.

Count De la Tour Mauburgh has had, within these few days, his audience of leave of the king, being on the eve of his departure for London. You may easily believe that nothing has transpired of what happened at this conference, and that even if any thing were known, it would not be decent to repeat it. It is sufficient for you to know the fact in itself, to be certain that M. De la Tour Maubourg will be the more able to express to your government the real sentiments of the monarch, and his firm resolution to proceed invariably in the course marked out by the constitution, as well as to confine our policy within the relations of a frank and impartial friendship with all nations.

M. B. Constant was elected, as was expected, Deputy of the Sarthe, with M. Desormeaux. The first is too well known to require any mention of his qualities, the latter is much less known at Paris: he is only known as a rich landed proprietor, who has for several years been mayor of the small commune of Parime.

M. the Count de St. Aignan, who has left the mayorality of Nantz to be perfect of the Cotes du Nord, has been nominated a deputy to the Lower Loire; and this is the just recompense of the services which he has rendered during his gratuitous administration.

M. Daunou, one of the most celebrated members of the Institute, and one of our ablest writers, has been nominated a deputy of Finisterre, and at Lyons, M. de Courcelle, formerly commandant of the national guard of that city, and enjoying from 50,000, to 60,000 francs of rentes, has been elected for that place.

You will remark, that among the five deputies, there are three of old noble families and that thus the complaint of the exclusion of the nobility by the law of elections has not been realized.

London, April 2.

A rumour has been spread that the Commons' Report of the Bank committee has been drawn up, and will be laid before the House before the Easter holidays. We have reason to think that this rumour is wholly void of foundation—that the Committee so far from having prepared their report, have scarcely completed the examination of evidence—and that it will not be till after the holidays, that any Report will be presented.

At the same time the public may be sure that perfectly aware of the great anxiety, felt by every class of commercial men, and of the stagnation of mercantile enterprise and speculation consequent upon the uncertainty that must of course exist until the report is presented, every effort will be made by his Majesty's Government to accelerate it as much as possible. But it will easily occur that the immense importance of the subject demands the most deliberate and mature consideration.

We have received this morning the Paris Papers of Tuesday last. They confirm the account of the fact of the assassination of M. Kotzebue. The wretched homicide appears to have been influenced merely by political animosity.

The following are extracts:—

"Paris, March 30.

"This day (Tuesday) the Chamber of Peers will assemble to receive a communication from the Government.

French Funds, March 30.

Five per Cent. 65f. 40c.—Bank Stock, 15 15.

"Our town was yesterday the theatre of a horrid scene of fanaticism. M. Augustus de Kotzebue, whose literary celebrity had even penetrated to Japan, has been assassinated in his bed chamber. A student, or at least an individual who had inscribed himself as such, on the register of Strangers at the Weinberg Inn, entered the apartment of M. de Kotzebue, attacked him relative to his opinions and conduct, and after a short delay, and proposals for a duel, which M. de Kotzebue probably refused, stabbed him 4 times with a poniard. M. de Kotzebue fell dead in the arms of his eldest daughter, who ran into the room on hearing the cries of her father. The assassin quietly walked out of the house, knelt down in the street, and raised his clasped hands to heaven, exclaimed, Vivat Teutonia. Afterwards rising, he stabbed himself on the spot. The assistance which was administered to the assassin leaves even to day, some signs of life, but it is not thought that he can recover.

The University diploma found upon him states his name to be Sand; his shirt is marked S; but he had inscribed himself at the inn under the name of Hienrich. A billet was also found upon him, with another poniard, containing the following words: 'The sentence of death of Augustus de Kotzebue, executed the 23d of March, 1819.' It is said that this young man is a native of Wunsiedel, in Saxony. Other accounts, on the authority of private letters received in Paris, state his name to be Charles Sander, a theological student of the University of Wurzburg, and that he arrived post the same morning at Manheim. One account asserts that M. de Kotzebue survived half an hour.

London, April 2.

Lord Holland stated, in the House of Peers last night, that it was the intention of the Earl of Donoughmore, to present the petitions of the Irish Catholics on the 4th of May next, and on that day to bring before the House the claims of the Catholic body in Ireland. The same question stands for discussion in the House of Commons, upon Mr. Grattan's motion, for the 27th instant.

A question of some importance was put to the Ministers last night, by Sir W. de Crespigny. The honorable Baronet wished to know whether the vessels that had been chartered from this country to proceed to Spain for the purpose of taking on board Spanish troops to act against the South American Insurgents, acted with the privity or consent of his Majesty's government. Lord Castlereagh replied that the transactions in question were purely commercial, and that the parties who engaged in them acted upon their own discretion, and at their own peril as to any consequences that might ensue.

The wife of a laboring man, named Joseph Richardson, of Cooksey, near Broomsgrove, Warwickshire, was delivered, last Tuesday, week, of FOUR children, at one birth, all girls. They are likely to live, and the mother is doing well. The poor man's wages are 10s per week, and he has three children in addition to the above.

"Augsbourgh, March 23.

"The Princess Amelia of Baden, who last year married the Prince de Wurtemburg, is happily delivered of a Princess, at the Castle of Donau-Eschingen.

Vienna, March 19.

"Letters written direct from Constantinople, by persons worthy of confidence, leave no longer any doubts on the exaggeration of the first news which represented the Wechabites as entirely annihilated."

Letters from Rome of a later date, (the 13th ult.) say, that some shocks of an Earthquake were experienced at Palermo on the 24th and 25th of February. They were chiefly felt at the mountain Dela Madonia, where several persons perished by the sinking in of the earth—This, no doubt, was the origin of the rumor that Messina had been swallowed up by an Earthquake.

Corn Exchange, April 2.

Our market continues exceedingly heavy for all grain, owing to the great deficiency in the demand compared with the supply, and what little wheat was got off this morning was at a reduction of full 2s per quarter from Monday's prices, and only that of fine quality found buyers at that decline.—Barley is from 2s to 4s per quarter cheaper, and a very dull sale—the foreign supply being much larger than was expected, and the quality of a great part of it being such as suits malisters.

PRIVATE CORRESPONDENCE.

Paris, March 29.

If the existence of a genuine public opinion in France could any longer be doubted, it would suffice to compare the effect produced, in the interval of one month, on private affairs and on general confidence, by the adoption, in the chamber of Peers, of the proposition of M. de Barthelemy, and by its rejection in that of the Deputies.—Frenchmen understand ambiguous measures, and all classes of society forsaw, at first view, the aim of this attempt, which was as unlimited in its effects as it was vague in its expression. In support of this, I appeal to the joy of the enemies of our institutions, and the alarms of the real friends of the king and the Charter. The counter-blow to this incident manifested to the government, that the majority of the Chamber of Peers was in an inverse proportion to the interests of the majority of the nation. Hesitating was out of the question. Seventy five Peers were nominated—but on the other hand the efforts which ministers found themselves compelled to make, in order to maintain a floating part of the majority in the Chamber of Deputies, must have convinced them how very uncertain will always be the majority of a Chamber so little numerous, and in which a few manœuvres are sufficient to influence twenty or thirty votes, and thus to obtain results contrary to the desires and necessities of the majority of the nation which that Chamber is delegated to represent.

A government animated by sincere motives, will desire a majority from conviction in the Chambers, and renounce the creation of factious majorities by intrigues which may be destroyed with equal facility, by counter intrigues.

Such a majority, united by conformity of principles and supported by sincere conviction can only be obtained by a numerical augmentation of the Chamber of Deputies, where distinct parties, the Ultra Liberoux and the Ultra Royalists, are but too feebly seperated and restrained by the Deputies of the Centre, who, not forming by themselves an absolute majority, obtain one for the government only by successive alliances with one of the two parties, against the other. What is required however, for the security of our institutions as well as for that of the throne, is that the Chamber of Deputies should present in its middle party, a majority sufficiently imposing, that the impartial men of the right and left sides uniting with it, the minority may be only composed of retrospective thinkers, that is of those of the members of the Assembly, who would desire the Bourbons without the charter, or liberty without the Bourbons. I am willing to believe that the number of the latter is infinitely small; at least, during three years we have observed virulent and multiplied attacks, against institutions guarranted to us by the Charter emanate from both Chambers—whilst not a single word has escaped which would indicate enemies to the Bourbons. From the midst of those even, over whom suspicions hover, (which nothing has justified) very satisfactory declarations of attachment have been heard under most important circumstanees. What is equally satifactory, is, that the nation happy and proud of owing its liberty to the king, no longer seperates them in its desires, and that the same alarms and the same resistance, which the enemies of liberty have recently excited, by an imprudent proposition, would be reproduced with the same vivacity, at the first signal of danger to that dynasty which has sworn the maintenance of the charter. It is attempted to create alarm respecting the enemies of the royal family. I examine their deeds, and I do not find out but I am less embarrassed to meet the enemies of France who menaced her external independence by their secret note, and her domestic liberty by a recent attack upon her most precious guarantee.

It may therefore be believed, that from this trial, will emanate for the government evidence of the danger to which our political existence will unceasingly be exposed, so long as intrigues shall have any influence over the majority of one of the two chambers. An aristocracy truly national has just been established in the Chamber of Peers—a majority in harmony with it must be established in that of the Deputies, by doubling the present number of members—this measure, united to the renewal of a series, by introducing six fifths into the assembly, by virtue of the law of elections, will secure forever that law from all attacks on the part of the enemies of the constitution, who acknowledge in that law, (which old England herself will one day envy to youthful France) the basis of all the liberties which the charter has conferred upon us. The interest of general repose, as well as the necessity of its politics, recommends this measure to the ministry, authorised by the silence of the charter, relative to the positive number of Chamber of the Deputies; for we have the right, by promising fidelity to the government to ask its protection—and whilst every two months the cries are renewed, which strike at all public and private interests, it is permitted us to expect and hope that they will employ efficacious and suitable remedies, to secure us henceforth from similar attempts.

The United States' frigate Congress, capt. Henley, sailed from Annapolis on Thursday last, for Rio Janeiro, with Mr. Graham, our Minister to the Portuguese and Brazilian government, and his family, on board. From Rio the Congress will proceed on her extensive cruise in the Asiatic seas.

On Tuesday last Mr. Bagot, the Minister of England, and his family, departed from Annapolis, in the British frigate Forth on their return home.

The Ontario, captain Biddle, left Annapolis, for Norfolk, on Wednesday.

NOBLE AND MAGNIFICENT ENTERPRISE.

Under this head the Vermont Journal announces, that an institution entitled—"Scientific, Literary, and Military Academy," is about to be established in Norwick, (Vermont,) under the superintendence of captain ALDEN PARTRIDGE, late of the United States' Corps of Engineers, and late principal of the Artillery Academy of West Point. The building to be erected for the use of this seminary is to be of brick, handsomely finished, and is to be sufficiently spacious to afford excellent accommodations for 160 students.

It is stated, that a complete course of education at this Academy, will embrace the following branches:—The Latin, Greek and English languages, arithmetic, the construction and use of logarithms, a course of Algebra complete, geometry, plane and spherical trigonometry, planometry, stereometry, mensuration of heights and distances by trigonometry, practical geometry generally, including, particularly surveying and levelling conic sections, the use of the barometer, with its application to measuring the altitudes of mountains and other eminences, mechanics, hydrostatics, hydraulics, the elements of chemistry and electricity, pneumatics, optics, astronomy, navigation, geography, including the use of maps and the globes, history, ethics, the elements of natural and political law, permanent and field fortification, field engineering generally, the construction of marine batteries, artillery duty including the principles of gunnery, a complete course of military tactics, the attack and defence of fortified places, castrametation, ancient fortification, the ancient modes of attacking and defending fortified places, the ancient tactics, particularly those of the Greeks and Romans, embracing a description of the organization and discipline of those two celebrated military corps the phalanx and legion; civil engineering, including the construction of roads and canals, locks, bridges, &c.; architecture. In addition to the foregoing, the students will be regularly and correctly instructed in the elementary school of the soldier, and also in those of the company and battalion; they will likewise be taught the regular formation of military parades, the turning off, mounting and relieving guards and sentinels, the duties of sentinels, the duties of officers of the guard, officers of the day and adjutants; the making out correctly the different descriptions of military reports; in fine, all the duties incident to the field or garrison. The military exercises will be so arranged as not to occupy any of the time that would otherwise be devoted to study; they will be attended to at those hours of the day which are generally passed by students in idleness, or devoted to useless amusements, for which they will be made a pleasing and healthful substitute."

A Literary Paper.

☞In the beginning of June next, a literary paper will be issued from the office of S. H. Davis, to be entitled The Columbian Telescope and Literary Compiler. It will be edited by a TRIO, printed on a half sheet quarto, with new type, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars per annum, payable in advance, or three dollars at the end of the year.

May 10 3t

Penmanship.

A PRACTICAL, easy running hand warranted, and no compensation received except there is an improvement made to the utmost satisfaction of the young ladies and gentlemen who attend.

Those disposed may try the experiment during 12 hours, at the end of which time, if their improvement does not meet their approbation, they may withdraw and no charge made. And further, if those scholars who continue on through the 16 lessons, do not in their own estimation, or in the estimation of their parents or guardians, make more improvement than is generally made in two years, in the old way of teaching, it is requested that no one pay any thing.

During the 16 lessons are taught the small running hand, secretary and Italian hand, the last of which is particularly fashionable for young ladies.

The teacher having had nearly eight years experience at various seminaries of learning and in the principal cities and towns in the United States, offers the advantage of this long experience to all those who apply, during the present week, after which none can be received.

Those disposed to engage, may apply at the writing room, Washington-street, two doors north of King-street, where may be seen specimens of hand writing, acquired in less than one week. Application must be made during the present week—after which not one scholar will be received.

A class of young ladies may attend at any separate hours, either in the morning or evening; and also young ladies who prefer it may take lessons at home.

As this plan of writing embraces the two essential qualities of a good penman, ease and elegance; and as the time necessary to acquire it is merely nothing, it is believed, if its real utility were fully known, not one person of any age, who has the least wish of improving his hand writing, would hesitate to try the experiment. Perhaps this opportunity may not offer again in Alexandria for many years.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, high improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or Most Valuable Landed Property for Sale.

BEING anxious to move to the south-western country, I am disposed to sell that most valuable and well known farm in Charles county, Maryland, called The Meadows, and a part of Westwood Manor — This tract contains 930 acres, is most eligibly situated, lying in the fork of the two branches of the Wicomico river. As to fertility of soil, and advantages of every description, it is equalled but by few—surpassed by none.

Also, the farm on which I reside, called Somerset, in the County of King George, Virginia. This tract contains 676 acres, by late survey, and is also well situated, lying on the Potomac river, (opposite col. J. Taylor's Maryland Potowtestate) and bounded by the same upwards of a mile, is in a progressive state of improvement under the clover and plaster system, which has succeeded beyond my most sanguine expectations.

Also, two other small tracts in Westmoreland county, Va. containing 325 acres.

Also, 1140 acres of military land, in the state of Ohio.

As it is presumed that no person will (and as it is my desire that no one should) purchase without viewing the premises, I will not give a minute description of these tracts. Indisputable title will be made in every instance. Persons wishing to purchase, will please make application personally, or by letter addressed, to the subscriber, near Hampstead post office, Va.

The White House Fishery

STILL proceeds with success in catching shad of the best quality; and those who have not yet had their full supply, may be confident of getting here what they want, for two or three weeks to come, according to what is usual at this landing.

Herrings are caught in plenty, both here and at Sandy Point, and another glut is expected up the river daily.

The roads being good, and the weather warm, it is best for persons wanting fish, to take them fresh from the seines at the landings; and to accommodate customers, country produce will be received in payment for fish, at the Alexandria prices, particularly wheat, flour, corn, meal, oats and bacon. Exchange & Broker's Office,

Georgetown, District of Columbia.

ROMULUS RIGGS,

AT his office, next door below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on. August 18

Blacking for Boots & Shoes,

Superior to any ever offered to the public.

ROBERT COCHRAN,

No. 48, North Fourth-street, next door to the Green Tree Inn, Philadelphia.

WITH confidence offers to the public, his superior Portable and Liquid blacking, so much admired and approved of, which is manufactured by himself only.

This blacking possesses every desirable quality, being of an oily nature, it preserves the leather perfectly soft to the last, and keeps it from cracking—it is a jet black, affords a most superlative polish, entirely free from any offensive smell, and so clean as not to soil the whitest muslin or any other substance it may chance to run against, and will keep in any climate—it has a peculiar advantage in being put up in a portable manner, and may be packed without possibility of risque, with the nicest clothes or goods. The Portable Blacking is much adapted for gentlemen residing or travelling in the country, where materials for making Blacking is not to had, and as for cheapness and elegance, far exceeds any ever imported or manufactured in the union. Where is sold as above, the beautiful Chinese Liquid Blacking, for ladies morocco boots and shoes, which makes the oldest morocco boots or shoes appear the same as when new. Sold wholesale at the manufactory, as above.

N. B. Please observe that each bottle it sealed and signed by the proprietor, to prevent spurious impressions being imposed on the public.

It may be had at the following places in Alexandria.—Dr. Stabler and Richard Woods on Fairfax street,—Dr. Semmes, & Dr. Little's apothecary shops, on King-street.—Isaac Entwisles, shoe factory, and Thomas Mount's factory & Hardware store on King-street. sw2m March 20

Charlotte Hall School.

THE board of trustees for Charlotte Hall school deem it their duty to announce to the public, the present flourishing condition of this institution. Since the introduction of the present professors, the school has rapidly progressed in the public estimation.

When Philip Briscoe, esq. was called to assume the office of Principal, there were but 27 pupils. The liberality of the State Legislature of 1817, enabled the trustees to retain his services and those of Mr. Millmore for the classical department—the Reverend Mr. Neale H. Shaw has also been retained as professor of mathematicks, and he is aided in that department by Mr. Sweetsee, a gentleman in high estimation as a professor. Under the management of these gentlemen the school has now 95 boys; and very many applications have already been made for entrance and board. Heretofore a portion of the boys have been compelled to board at the neighboring houses at too great a distance from the school; the trustees are now making arrangements which will enable fifty boys more to be accommodated immediately at the school; so that at all times the Principal will be enabled to exercise a general superintendance over their moral deportment (to the corruption of which, the boys in this retired village have but few temptations). The board will remark to those who are unacquainted with this place, that no part of Maryland is more distinguished for its general healthiness. The price of board is only 100 dollars a year. The tuition is now but 28 dollars a year! It will be raised after August to 32 dollars—a price much lower, however, than any of the public schools of our state.

It is intended then by the trustees to select four boys (of poor and indigent parents) of promise, and to board, clothe, and educate them entirely at the expense of the institution, and afterwards to labor to procure them that station to which their talents and conduct may entitle them.

Signed, by order,

NEALE H. SHAW, Reg'r.
